

International Conference // Working Session

Spiritual Human Rights 2010

11th and 12th of December 2010
Copenhagen, Denmark

Working session for discovering the UNIVERSAL PRINCIPLES of Spiritual Human Rights

Invitation for scientific researchers, activists and practitioners within the transdisciplinary field of human rights and spirituality

For the third consecutive year Soteria International welcomes participants to a visionary conference on the emerging field of Spiritual Human Rights. This year's event will be executed as an explorative workshop with two days of dynamic interaction focused on the creative development of Universal Principles as a unique charter within the Spiritual Human Rights.

ONE WORLD - ONE HUMANITY - ONE SET OF FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

The intention behind the Universal Principles is to discover and describe the fundamental and immanent ideas common to different cultural and spiritual traditions of the planet. The principles provide sui-generis guidelines for all citizens of the world. Embracing the common truths that unite people across nations and religions the work constitutes a timeless foundation facilitating intercultural dialogue and sincere human transformation.

The knowledge and practice of the Universal Principles contribute to the balance and harmony between the human rights of the individual and the needs of society - helping each person and humanity as a collective to address its challenges.

UNIVERSAL PRINCIPLES WITH MANIFOLD AREAS OF APPLICATION

The immanent values and mechanisms of the Universal Principles can be observed and applied within a vast field of disciplines and arenas. Accordingly, during a series of conferences and working sessions across Europe in the period 2008-2010 their application has been tested in fields as diverse as peace-making, the natural ecology, mass media and the education system.

Drawing upon the conclusions and observations from these sessions combined with new insights and latest research the SHR10 conference aims to raise the work to the next level by defining a complete and inspiring set of Universal Principles, with immanent practical value for the positive transformation of today's society and its citizens.

On this background we invite progressive thinkers and pioneering practitioners to participate in the formation of this unfolding field.

A DYNAMIC MEETING FORMAT

Addressing the abstract, scientific and spiritual complexity of formulating Universal Principles the SHR10 conference is designed as an explorative event with a workshop format that allows participants to apply dynamic methods of dialogue-based and transdisciplinary collaboration. During the two-day event, participants are invited to engage in a creative open space process. The event also includes networking activities as well as short inspirational talks and energizers.

REGISTRATION & PRACTICAL INFO

For registering to the conference please send an email with a short personal resume to registration@soteriainternational.org

Due to the importance of a successful active working process, this year's conference is FREE OF CHARGE for all participants signing up before November 30th 2010. For later sign-up there will be a registration fee of 50 Euro.

For those who need it, we can organize accommodation in affordable prices for the days of the event, in the vicinity of the conference venue.

VENUE

THE SHR10 conference will take place at:
Nordre Fasanvej 230,
DK-2200 Copenhagen N

The conference language is English.

If you have further questions about the event please contact Mr. Arthur Lederer at telephone +45 3064 5548 or email arthur.lederer@soteriainternational.org

We look forward to welcoming you to the Spiritual Human Rights 2010 international conference!

Sincerely,
Soteria International